

TIPS & RESOURCES | Kid City

March 2024

Tip of the Month

You may have heard this saying when it comes to parenting: “the days are long, but the years are short.” Time moves faster than we think it does. So what can we do to maximize our time with our kids?

If you’re subscribed to the Grow Kids subscription, now would be a good time to add the Parent Tip Video titled, How To Make The Most Of Your Family Time. Tip videos can be found here: Dashboard > Families > Tools > Open in Dropbox > Parent Tip Video.

Looking to Easter...

As we look ahead to celebrating Easter with you, we want to provide you with high-quality resources to help you help your kids fully embrace the Easter story. In, “The Garden, the Curtain, and the Cross Storybook” we go on a journey from the Garden of Eden to God’s perfect new creation to help us understand why Jesus’ death and resurrection are good news for us. We will be giving away a book to a family who pre-registers for the GLOW event on March 22!

Purchase “The Garden, the Curtain and the Cross Storybook: The true story of why Jesus died and rose again” here.

MAKE ROOM: A Child’s Guide to Lent and Easter

Advent is all about excitement and good times, but Lent can be tough for kids to understand. So, how can we help them make sense of it? “Make Room” has some great ideas for making Lent special by creating space for God and tying it all back to Jesus.

Question of the Month

Did you grow up going to church as a kid or did you start coming to church as an adult?

Is My Child Good?

How can we tell the difference between a behavioral issue and something deeper going on in the life of our children? In her podcast – Parenting For The Culture – educator, and mother of 6, Charisse Sims explores how to parent in a way that leads to flourishing. In this episode, Charisse asks the question, “Is My Child Good?”

April 2021

Tip of the Month

When's the last time you told your kid about your journey of faith? Have you ever told them what you thought about God when you were their age, or when you first heard about Jesus? Do you talk with them about who God is to you today? If it's been a while, start that conversation with your kid this month. Tell them your story of faith for two reasons:

- 1) Because it will help your kid's faith grow.
- 2) Because it will help your faith grow too

Tip of the Month

While your church is here to help, support, and invest in your kid, you are the very best person to disciple your kid and help them grow spiritually. In order to that, try guiding your kids through the four spiritual habits that we all need in our faith journeys: spend time with God, spend time with others in healthy community, share your stories of faith, and use your gifts to serve. These four habits are common ground that can help you and your kid grow together.

Tip of the Month

Sometimes it might feel like all you do is catch your kid doing something you really wish they wouldn't do. And as frustrating as it is for you, you can imagine how frustrating and defeating it can be for kids when they're being constantly corrected. So, starting this week, try "catching" your kid when they do something good, kind, or wise and affirm them for it. It will help reinforce the kind of decisions you hope they make.

Tip of the Month

We probably tell our kids that they can change the world, but do we mean "someday" or "today"? And are we actually giving them the tools they need to become the leaders we say they can become? Here are a few things we can do to help every kid learn to lead right now:

1. Let them lead (and serve) now.
2. Give them responsibility.
3. Help them develop leadership skills.
4. Celebrate their efforts

December 2020

Tip of the Month

Think about someone who shaped your future because of their influence during your childhood years. Someone who made you who you are today. Seriously, do it. Right now. Got a name? Great. Now consider this. In a few years, what will your kid say you've instilled in them? And what voices (besides yours) are helping to shape them? If you're not sure, don't let this week go by without recruiting another trusted adult to help you influence your kid.

Here is a short Parent Tip Video you can check out!
